

R.E. PALMER

BRIEF BIO

R.E. Palmer (Roy) is an indie author living in Bedford, England. He is a writer of fantasy, science-fiction, and dystopian books. His work in progress is an epic fantasy series, Song of Echoes.

Roy's influences include J.R.R. Tolkien, Arthur C. Clarke, John Wyndham and Alastair Reynolds.

He started writing in 2010 at the age of 46 and is currently a part-time author, Alexander Technique Teacher, and athletics coach. He is a lecturer on the BA Hons Acting Course at Northampton University in the UK.

Roy's ambition is to become a full-time writer.

SUGGESTED INTERVIEW TOPICS AND QUESTIONS

- What encouraged you to start writing?
- Where do you get your ideas for your stories?
- How do you come up with the names for your fantasy places and characters?
- If you could meet any author, alive or dead, who would it be, and what would you ask them?
- Why did you decide to self-publish?
- If you could be any character in any film or movie, who would you choose and why?
- How often and where do you write?
- Who creates your book covers? How did you find them?

CONTACT INFORMATION

Website: <https://www.FrontRunnerBooks.com>
Twitter: @R_E_Palmer
Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/FrontRunnerBooks/>
Instagram: https://www.instagram.com/r_e_palmer/
Email: roy@frontrunnerbooks.com
Phone: (+44) 1234 708777

